THE MURDER OF ROGER ACKROYD

Agatha Christie

FEBRUARY MEETING

The AAUW Alameda Branch Evening Book Group invites you to our regular monthly meeting on February 17 at 6:30 PM. We will follow our usual format – first we gather for coffee, tea, and dessert, then we will discuss Agatha Christie's novel - The Murder of Roger Ackroyd - breaking into groups of 8 for the discussion. We are meeting in the home of an Evening Book group member. Kindly read the book before the meeting so we can have a great discussion.

The Murder of Roger Ackroyd, published in June 1926, was voted the best crime novel ever by the British Crime Writers Association in 2013. Agatha Christie (1890-1976) wrote 66 detective novels and 14 short story collections over the course of her career.

The novel is widely available online, in libraries and in bookstores, as an eBook or audiobook. It's available free in various electronic forms here on Project Gutenberg: <https://www.gutenberg.org/ebooks/69087>.

President's Corner

It's a new year and we are turning the corner into the second half of the Branch's 2025-2026 year. Therefore, it is time again for the branch to begin the nomination process for Branch officers. I know a lot of our members have previously served on the Board and feel they have done their duty while some of our newer members may be reluctant to take on responsibilities for an organization they just joined. But we have a vibrant Branch that both helps the women and girls in the community in which we live and provides us with a rich panoply of activities from Mahjong to book clubs. With that in mind, I humbly request that each of you consider joining the Board so we can keep all of this going for our members' benefit and that of the women and girls we support. Moreover, it is always a good idea for any organization for new people to take on leadership roles to introduce new ideas and different perspectives.

It would be great if a couple of you would agree to take on a Board position when the nominating committee contacts you in February. None of the positions are extremely demanding nor is the time commitment huge. There are nine monthly Board meetings on the first Monday of the month at 6:00 PM on Zoom, which seldom last more than an hour to an hour and one-half. In addition, we hope the Board members will be able to attend most of the nine monthly general meetings. And finally, we have a half-day retreat during the summer to plan for the upcoming year. Depending on the Board position, the responsibilities may require another couple of hours a month for board business. I can also say from personal experience that it is also kind of fun and quite satisfying to be on the Board. One has an opportunity to get to know the other Board members organically over time while working for a common goal. Thanks in advance for considering expanding your role.

- Mary Oppedahl, President AAUW Alameda Branch

In Memory

Sally Faulhaber

Sally Faulhaber of Alameda, CA has passed away at the age of 96. An engaged citizen with a deep interest in her community, social justice, and nature, she was active until her last days, and was kind and generous to the end.

Sally grew up in Iowa, and after dabbling in teaching in the US and Guatemala, she moved to Berkeley, where she earned a PhD in Zoology from the University of California. She studied genetics in the 1960s, and at a time when women in science were much less common than they are today. She met her future husband, Bill Faulhaber, on the Dipsea trail in Marin County. The two shared a passion for the outdoors as well as intellectual curiosity and a love of science. They moved to Alameda where they raised two daughters, while continuing to hike, ski and camp in Sierras whenever they could find the time. Even as a stay-at-home mom, Sally was active in the League of Women Voters and various local organizations, and pursued creative endeavors such as pottery and music. Once her daughters were grown, she returned to science and worked briefly in the private sector before settling into a role at UC Berkeley as a lab technician.

In retirement, she travelled internationally, including to Machu Picchu and Central Asia. At home, she continued to pursue her interest in pottery, creating designs that adorned her home and that she gave away as gifts. Through volunteer work and donations, she continued to stand up for her beliefs, and to lend a hand where she was able.
